Lex Machina API

Legal Analytics Everywhere

At Lex Machina, we have spent years building the most advanced Legal Analytics dataset in the industry. We have delivered an award-winning Legal Analytics platform that has helped lawyers gain a winning edge over their competition. Now, for the first time, our data is directly available via API.

Law firms and legal departments use litigation data in increasingly complex and sophisticated workflows. The time has come to make access to Legal Analytics even more seamless and deliver actionable insights everywhere throughout your organization. Lex Machina has created an API that allows you to use our litigation data and combine it with any other information to deliver the most valuable insights to your team – exactly when and where they need them.

Lex Machina®

The Best Data...

Lex Machina is the only Legal Analytics platform with comprehensive case resolutions, damages, remedies, and findings. Without that information, it's impossible to know what was actually litigated in a case, how it ended, whether damages were awarded, and for how much.

Lex Machina is also the only solution that goes beyond the docket to match individual attorneys to law firms and the party and role represented. Attorney Data Engine combines various data sources, including millions of court documents, to produce the most comprehensive data available about the attorneys and law firms in every Lex Machina case.

...Wherever and Whenever You Need It

The same Lex Machina data relied upon by the Am Law 100 and Fortune 500s is now available via REST API or our CSV data export.

▪ Create new datasets, or entirely new products that go beyond currently available functionality.

▪ Build customized alerts based on the parameters your team monitors for new litigation.

▪ Integrate Lex Machina widgets directly in your portals, dashboards, or internal websites to make access to Legal Analytics as easy as the click of a mouse.

▪ Combine Lex Machina data with your internal systems, CRM products, or matter management tools.

Take advantage of our data to create new ways of presenting your most valuable insights.

![Lex Machina logo]

A True Data Partnership

The Lex Machina API is a gateway to integration and customization of Legal Analytics. In short, it is a true partnership. We're applying the same rigorous level of care we use with our data to help you implement the API. If you adopt the Lex Machina API, you can do so knowing that you'll be working with:

- Excellent API documentation with explanations in plain English

- A developer advocate team to help with technical implementation

- Support of a developer community where you can share knowledge and resources

- Formal and informal workshops and panel discussions

- Transparency about our API Product Roadmap and API usage metrics

- Access to best-in-class Legal Analytics available in Lex Machina's SaaS product.

Please contact your Sales rep for more information or email info@lexmachina.com to help you get started.

Lex Machina®