The vast majority of cases in the United States are litigated in state courts, and Alameda County Superior Court is an important venue for state court litigation. This court covers Alameda County, the seventh-most-populous county in California and the twentieth most populous in the United States. Alameda County serves a population of over 1.5 million citizens and is an important court for civil cases involving contracts, torts, and other civil matters. Now, Legal Analytics is available for Alameda County Superior Court.

The Winning Edge

Lex Machina gathers raw information from state court cases and the underlying documents, and then it uses a unique Natural Language Processing engine to clean, tag, enhance, and present the resulting data in a way that allows users to make data-driven decisions. Lex Machina is the only analytics provider that has both the documents and the technology to ensure that the resulting data is as accurate and complete as possible. Lex Machina also adds high-value trial outcomes data to reveal who won cases and what the damage awards were.

Practitioners can now investigate a party's litigation track record, assess a law firm's experience in similar cases, understand the range of damages awarded at trial, or search docket entry text.

The Legal Analytics platform provides data-driven insights and trends in state court. Advantages of state court analytics include:

- Understanding timing to key litigation milestones
- Analyzing the record of a specific judge, law firm, attorney, or party
- Reviewing previous trial resolutions, trial damages, and trial rulings for case strategy
- Refining with court-specific filters such as case types and case tags
- Keyword searching within docket entry text and downloaded documents
- Viewing analytics across all state courts or in one particular court
